City Pickup Nets 172 Tons Of Paper

The sixth one-day, citywide paper collection in Utica yesterday yielded more than 172 tons, official figures revealed last night. Leaders formed the collection a success and were enthusiastic over a response which indicated the public had saved so much scrap paper since the last collection, two months ago.

Total collections from 12 sectors announced in 344,000 pounds at the official checkup at 8 p. m. by Weighmaster Leo Gemble the Empire Waste and Metal Corporation, 801 4 alhanise.

The collection in January netted more than 192 tons and the first drive, Mar. 7, 1944, brought 345,000 pounds, or 172½ tons. Other collection totals were June, 111 tons; September, 123 tons and November, 111 tons, all last year.

Excellent weather conditions and co-operation of those who loaned trucks contributed much to the success of the drive, observers and campaign leaders declared.

Sector volunteers deposited their loads at the Empire Waste and Metal establishment, where the Robert Gair Company, Syracuse, arranged for loading the paper into box cars across the street. Twelve cars were filled. The Gair Company will have the paper processed and returned here for manufacture of war materials.

Totals in pounds by sectors, as announced by Gemble:

Sectors 2, 3, 4, canvassed by Sector 4 volunteers, 18,000.

Sector 5	28,340
Sector 6	18,800
Sector 7	11,800
Sector 8	40,000
Sector 9	30,040
Sector 10	29,100
Sector 11	11,200
Sector 12	23,000
Sector 13	11,062

Thomas M. Burton, county salvage chairman, said he and James L. Boland, field staff representative of the salvage branch of the War Production Board, recently canvassed business houses and also talked with scrap paper dealers, learning 760 tons of paper had been turned in to dealers in the last month. This total should be added in with yesterday's figures to give a true picture of the scrap paper picture in Utica, Burton said.

Burton made an appeal to residents not to give their paper to any collector or group, but to save it for the citywide sector collections. He said sector representatives have worked hard in these drives and should have the credit for collecting the paper.

Volunteers from the air raid wardens, auxiliary police and Boy Scouts were among those who were out in the collection. Boy Scouts participated after attending church services.

Each Boy Scout troop so outfitted in the General Eisenhower Scout Waste Paper Campaign averaging 1,000 pounds of paper per boy will receive a used 20-mm. shell container sent back from the battlefields. Such paper is not usable again in salvage. Each boy who collects 1,000 pounds will receive a medal. This Scout campaign, which is ended in March and April, was without yesterday through co-operation with the protective services.

A new system of truck organization went into effect yesterday. Each sector warden or auxiliary police leader enlisted the trucks he needed from dealers. Business men who wished to co-operate listed their trucks in the City Hall office of civilian protection.

Those who planned the campaign were Burton, Ralph Arend, chief air raid warden; Sgt. Frank Clark, auxiliary police leader, and William S. Williams, president, Upper Mohawk Council, Boy Scouts.

John D. Douglas, leader of Sector 8, which made the greatest sector showing, said he wished to thank those who saved their paper in his sector and asked residents to continue saving for the next drive. Boy Scout Troops 46 and 7 assisted with the collection in Sector 8. Twelve trucks were used, including six from the New York State Guard trucks, and one each from the New York Central Railroad, Fort Schuyler, Copeland Ice Company, Utica & Mohawk Valley Fuel and Fletcher Oil Company.

Four trucks were used in Sector 4, Ray Hammans, sector leader, reported. They were from the Department of Public Works, Thomas and West End Brewing Company. Ninety-seven chicken dinners were served to Sector 4 and Sector 7 workers in Sector 6 headquarters, 714 Varick. The cost was paid from the treasuries of both sectors.

Charles Vogel, Sector 7 leader, reported 50 men had volunteered to canvass his sector. He said pickup was speeded up because bundles were found firmly tied and placed close to the curbs. Six trucks were used, including two from the Utica Steam Engine & Boiler Works and one each from the Scientific Welding Company, Globe Woolen Mill, Burton's Stove Store and Lincoln Dairy.

John Wilkie, Sector 1 leader, reported Boy Scout Troops 54 and 83 assisted and trucks were contributed from the Gair Company, Kirkley Clothes, Utica Oil Heating Company and Aiello Trucking. Eight trucks canvassed Sector 2. Ira J. Roberts, leader, reported. Two were from J. B. Wells Company, and one each from Hathaway Bakeries, American Hard Wall Plaster Company, Ogden Grain Company, Chemical Charcoal, Graffenburg Dairy and Hodge & [illegible] Sector 3 Leader, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain, at Camp Polk, La., according to word received by his parents. He is attached to a quartermaster truck company.

Picture Raises Wife's Hopes

Mrs Frances J. Foley, 809 Jefferson, whose husband has been missing in action more than a year, has an additional reason for believing him alive and a prisoner after seeing a picture resembling him in the March issue of the Rotarian.

She received the original of the picture yesterday from Charles A. Miller, secretary of Utica Rotary club after scanning closely the 8x7 print, she still couldn't be sure that it was her husband.

But she obtained the name and address of the photographer who took the series of pictures in a Switzerland internment camp, of which Mrs. Foley's id one, and plans to write to him, hoping he has the names of the prisoners and that one of the names is Pvt. Francis J. Foley.

Mrs. Foley noticed the picture first in the Rotarian and wrote to its office in Chicago, requesting the original and any information available. She forgot to give her address and the original was sent to the Kcal Rotary Club, asking them to locate Mrs. Foley. Miller put a story in Saturday's Observer-Dispatch and yesterday, Mrs. Foley contacted him.

Private Foley was reported missing Feb. 21, 1944, in Italy. No definite information concerning him has been received since. He entered the Army Apr. 29, 1943, and left for overseas in October, 1943. Mrs. Foley is the former Anne Lobaczewski.
