JACK W. ROUSSEL

TEANECK FLIER REPORTED LOST

Mother Gets Word After Christmas Shopping

For Mrs. Joseph W. Roussel of Teaneck, the day was to be bright with joy and toward its end, black with sorrow.

In the morning hours she ran around Manhattan making happy selection of Christmas gifts to send her son, Flight Officer Jack Warren Roussel over in Scotland.

About dinner hour her husband coughed a little uncomfortably, made a few false starts, and then told her their son is among the missing of the Royal Canadian Air Force and probably drowned.

Roussel knew about it Thursday. That night his wife told him she would go into the city to buy the gifts to catch the Christmas boat.

The Casualties Officer at Ottawa had wired Roussel his son was lost on duty out of Edinburgh last Tuesday and it is believed he was drowned.

Four days before this three letters arrived from their son. In one he wrote he expected assignment to India. He had been overseas since last February. Roussel enlisted Dec. 14, 1941.

His twenty-third birthday is next Friday.

He was home for 2 weeks soon after February 9 when he was commissioned a pilot officer. Then he went over from Halifax.

He has a brother, Corporal Thomas Roussel, 19, radioman-gunner on a Douglas Dauntless dive bomber of the Marine Corps Air Force. He is on overseas duty but his parents do not know in what war area.

They live at 625 Maple Avenue, Teaneck.

Their boys are Teaneck High School graduates. The missing officer also attended Bergen College.
