

Teaneck High School Hails Alumni in Service

Men Overseas Write of Life In Far Places

Seeing the far places of the world has come to be an accepted practice for Teaneck alumni. Former students, now in service, are stationed from Italy to New Guinea.

Larry Metzler, John Diehl, and Ed Zimmerman have written home telling a little of their lives on far-flung fronts. Their letters follow:

Cpl. Larry Metzler
Somewhere in England

Hi Folks,

At last I've found a few minutes to write and thank you all for sending me the ever-welcome TE-HI NEWS. Even the other fellows in my outfit find a great amount of pleasure in reading it and "riding" me about good old Teaneck.

I guess England is the same as most of us have all pictured it, almost always raining, damp and foggy. The only thing I haven't found yet is Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes, and the ever-faithful Watson.

It is quite an old country, and as most folks know, tends to live in the past rather than in the present and future. They have quite a few old customs over here which seem odd and out of place to us fellows over here at first, but after awhile we get used to them. I was quite surprised to find that many Englishmen drink coffee, as it is a common belief that they all drink tea. Many of them do, as do many soldiers who have adopted the custom of tea drinking since arriving over here.

Haven't met anyone from Teaneck yet, but have met quite a few boys from surrounding towns, such as Bogota, Ridgeland Park, and Hackensack, but am still looking for someone from my old home town.

Pvt. John Diehl
Italy

Hi Folks:

I've been about quite a bit since I last saw you. Everywhere from Maryland, Virginia, Casablanca, Oran and now Italy. I'm at a training camp here, a remote place up in the mountains and there isn't much doing except for the usual variety of hikes, etc. I'll probably see some combat soon though.

We passed Naples on the way. It was in ruins. I don't think there was a building missed when they bombed it. This place also has a few villages around which are just about as bad.

Remember Steve Uhl? I ran into him here along with a lot of other fellows I haven't seen since I left the States. I was pretty surprised. "It's just a little screw where old friends meet," you might say.

Right now I'm at the Odd Fellows Hall, where all the odd fellows congregate nightly. The hall has big paintings of Vargas girls on the walls.

Good luck on exams and congratulations on graduation.

Dear Editors,

I am assigned to a submarine here, and I like it very much; in fact, I think it's the best duty in the Navy.

We pray that men will soon learn how to live
In peace, and know the ways of love and truth,
And let their light so shine that other men,
Will be inspired and live a life anew.

A Salute to Our Alumni in Service

Some of them fight on battlefields in Burma, some battle on the South Pacific Isles, while still more are giving up their lives on the road to Rome.

Others are sailing on the high seas in our invincible navy, swelling the ranks of ships of every caliber, bringing the day of victory closer.

Many are sweeping the skies clean of hostile air craft and others are training to do so.

Not to be forgotten are those who are doing their part by studying how to fight disease and cure the maimed, sick bodies of our wounded.

To all these fields Teaneck High has contributed more than its share of young men and women.

We, the students of Teaneck High School, salute The Air Corps, Marines, Navy, and Army, for the grand job you're doing to hasten the day of victory.

In Memory of Our Gallant Boys

Countless numbers born and led
Through life—now dead—

Fragments torn away from basic things,

Tossed and thrown into the night,
Where darkness leaves a strange,

a lonely fright;

And then again

The clammy chill of night,

Into the dawn, the sun

Once again—now one;

Each shadow of a hundred other times

Bathed in the rays of one great right

Now blending in a strong, a piercing light,

And onward, unafraid,

A worthwhile death in sight.

Servicemen in Hawaii Praise Bond Buyers

"It's wonderful to hear about all the Bond and Stamp drives you are holding at school." This statement comes from Bob Harris, '42, now stationed in Hawaii.

Another serviceman in the Hawaiian Theatre to praise the Bond drives is Seabee Fred Stafford, '42. The letters from these servicemen follow:

Pvt. Bob Harris
Hawaii

Hello to you all,

I was really thrilled when I received copies of ye ol' TE-HI NEWS. No kidding, it was a most pleasant surprise. How are things back in Teaneck? Goodness knows, I miss everything about the town.

Right now I'm in the Hawaiian Islands and, let me tell you, I'm still looking for those beautiful Hawaiian girls that I heard so much about when I was in the States.

Seriously tho', it's really beautiful down here (I'm referring to the scenery). The weather is always like a lovely spring day back home, and on an occasional pass I'm able to take in the city of Honolulu as well as get a look at Kailiki Beach.

It's wonderful to hear about all the Bond and Stamp Drives you are holding at school. Keep up the good work—it means a lot to us down here.

Give my regards to Miss Busche, Miss Hodges and my pal, Mr. Romaine. I miss the home town and all my friends who are there, and am taking this opportunity to send you all regards and thank you more for sending me the paper.

Best wishes to all I hope you pass your finals and don't get too many "Pink Slips" and 8th Periods.

S. S/C Fred W. Stafford, '42
Hawaii

Dear Friends,

I received my third TE-HI NEWS since I have been in the Seabees. Believe me, I surely do look forward to seeing the old school paper, and reading about what is going on in school.

I am stationed with the Seabees and am in Hawaii but expect to leave for the fighting front shortly. I have been in the Navy since last July and like this outfit very much.

There is another Teaneck graduate in my battalion, W. W. Schmidt, '43. He and I have been together since boot camp days at Camp Perry, Va.

My sister, who is in her first year in Junior High School, writes and tells me how so many of the students are buying war bonds and stamps. I congratulate them all.

We servicemen are buying bonds, having bond allotments taken out of our pay each month. I am getting a bond each second pay day, plus sending money home each pay day and having an additional bond taken out of that money. We are all doing the same thing so we can help doubly to win this war—fast.

Thanks once again for the TE-HI NEWS. It's like a letter from home.
