

COVID-19 Pandemic at the Holy Name Medical Center – A photo journey

Jeff Rhode, Holy Name Medical Center

<https://photos.holyname.org/COVID-19-Teaneck-Library/>

When the COVID-19 pandemic arrived in the U.S., Jeff Rhode embedded with the frontline staff inside Holy Name Medical Center to document milestones and moments that unfolded over the course of the year. Between March of 2020 through June of 2021 Jeff continues to share images and video with media outlets all over the globe. The goals were to illustrate the incredible dedication and compassion of healthcare workers, while also raising awareness about the severity of this new virus.

39. Today I had to get from the 6th floor and was down to 2, the I.C.U. with just a few minutes between. I took the stairs and stumbled upon Brenda, a respiratory therapist, taking a much needed break staring at the NY skyline on a phone call. After a polite "hello" she told me "it's not a sunny day, but it is a great day" with a smile. The first patient since the craziness started 2 weeks ago had been extubated - a milestone. The breathing tube had been removed. She smiled, and told me how M&M's were her weakness. She seemed happy. Thinking about this is the first time I've actually broken down.
