The students whose names are starred have shown outstanding work during the year.

Under the leadership of Genevieve Quasdorf, soft-spoken editor-in-chief, the Te-Hi News spent the most active year in its history. Backed up by Principal C. L. Littel, the News launched a series of fierce crusades to improve the school. They were involved in several stiff battles because of unfavorable publicity they showered upon certain groups and individuals, but they always came up smiling and we think that Teaneck High School is a little better off because they've been around.
