● The Art Club, during the past year, was organized on a different plan from previous years. It was divided into three groups, all of which were under the same officers.

The three groups were: The Sketch Club, The Art Service Squad, and The Craft Group. Many of the members of the organization belonged to all three groups, although this was not compulsory. Some belonged to only one of the groups. Great interest was manifested in all sections.

Members of the Sketch Club were busy all year doing sketches both inside and outside the building. The Art Service Squad, carrying out the purpose for which it was organized, did services for clubs, faculty, and members of the administration. In the Craft group, the members worked with cork, leather, metal, and other mediums. Before the Christmas holidays, they took orders for monogrammed stationery.

Club meetings were held every other Thursday. Anyone who wished might stay any Thursday after school to finish a project.
