

S COOPS HOWS TAGE CREEN

RADIO ROARS

"Flash" Hotmer still delights the listeners-in by singing the old-fashioned melodies. Last night Hotmer sang "The Lost Chord," but my, how sour he sounded on one note. Nevertheless, Hotmer is still the favorite of countless millions throughout the country.—They like the advertising.

Edible Toothpicks Are Perfected by Two Health Men

Edible Toothpicks, an invention by which one may pick his teeth and then masticate the instrument with the greatest enjoyment, has been perfected by Professor Milton Levine and Doctor Gilbert Glaser.

Speaking last night on their weekly health program, both Prof. Levine and Dr. Glaser assured the listeners-in that this instrument has finally been perfected.

The professor and the doctor claim that the toothpicks contain a reasonable amount of vitamins, A, R, and S. They will demonstrate their invention at the annual restaurant owners convention in Chicago.

Paramount Signs Malcolm Friedman

Paramount Studios have signed Malcolm Friedman, star of "The Flip of a Coin" to co-star with Jane Armstrong in her next picture, "The Lamp Shade is Broken." Mr. Friedman is appearing at the Paramount this week in his last rôle with the company of "The Flip of a Coin." The play will end next week, after which Mr. Friedman will proceed to Hollywood.

Actor Ill

Mr. Henry Benzenberg, star of "Bimbo the Pirate," is ill at home with a bad cold. He went swimming last night, in ice-cold water, just to win a ten-dollar bet. However, he had to pay the doctor the ten dollars.
