Fashion Fads

By JOYCE KAPLAN

Although not too many new fads have appeared this year, many styles that were fairly popular last spring are very much so now. One of these fashions is the wearing of buckles wings without socks. Two of the cutest pairs I've seen are those belonging to Margie DeVoe and Bett Laws. Margie's are black suede with yellow cord embroidery and Bett's are ordinary brown leather, but with names woven in, in red leather.

The wearing of boys' two toned sports jackets has long been popular, but many seventh graders have revised it. To celebrate their entrance into the "adult" world, they wear their boy friends' jackets, many sizes too large, and have his name embroidered on the collar lining, and solid color part. Eva Ferns had a blue and tan one with "Bert" scrawled on six inches high. Another type is Alice Minns. It is tan with black and white checks, and she has twelve boy's names on the tan part.

Footlight Club's Origin First in High School

Did you know the oldest club in school is the Footlight Club? It was formed the year the high school opened in 1929.

Held at School No. 2, it moved in the middle of the year, expanded and reorganized. Miss Edith Tepper was the first sponsor and the first president was Arthur Williams.

The first year the Footlight Club combined with the Te-Hi News to give a show to finance the paper. The most outstanding play then was "Tom Sawyer" played by Billy Thiesen, Fred Baser, Betty Ann Steel, and Frank McClelland, who has since been killed in the war.

After several years the club membership rose to 80 and 90 people as it was broken up into three groups 7th, 8th, and 9th grades. Since then classes in theatrical make-up, stagecraft and "how to act" have been added.

The best play lately has been "Ever Since Eve", held last year. This was a fairly long play, unlike the three one-act skits of long ago.

Miss Dorothea Stadelmann is now the sponsor succeeding Mrs. Margaret Casey and Miss Dorothy Tomlin who combined as one.

The Footlight Club plan work by outstanding, "well rounded" members, was designed by Elizabeth Troy, now a WAC.

Question: What impresses you most about Teaneck High School, being seventh graders?

Gail Benson, 7th — Too many stairways.

Virginia Crippen, 7th — Too big.

Gladya Webster — It's such a big school!

Lois Burnett — There are so many stairs.

Chippy Chote — The bigness of the place.

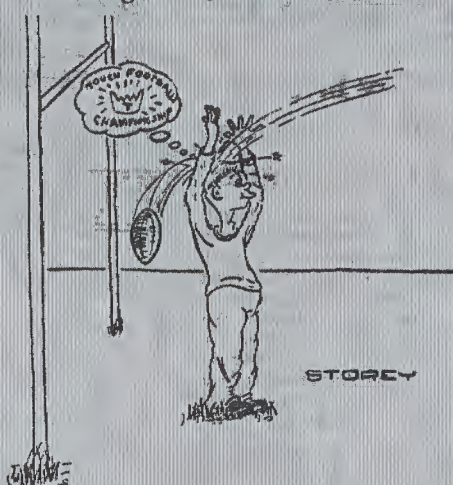

Fred Talstrom — Nothing. (Ed. These monosyllable answers!)

Committee Plans For 1945-1946

The 9th and 10th grade assembly committee headed by Miss Dorothea Stadelmann and consisting of Mr. Chester Blackmann, Mr. John Drugach, Mrs. Mary Penimore, Miss Elnorah Fitzpatrick, Mr. Donald Mairs, Mr. Ralph Rice, Mr. Westervelt Romaine, Miss Doris Rushe, and Mr. John Simmons, have this year planned many interesting assemblies with more student participation in mind. Along this line Mr. Simmons' home room will present a one-act play. There will be however, some paid out-side entertainers.

The two Junior Student representatives chosen by the council are Nathan Rodnon and John Haseler.

Bergenfield Soccer Squad Defeated 4-0 by Teaneck

Four victories in five games have been piled up by the Junior High School soccer squad so far this year.

Four Social Classes Visit the Town Hall

The inner workings of the town government were explained in detail to Miss Alice MacKenzie's Social Studies classes on their recent interesting tour of the town's municipal buildings and departments. The outstanding part of the tour was a visit to the Town Hall.

There the students met some of the officials including manager Paul A. Volcker, who explained how the government operates.

Another highlight of the trip was a visit to the police department. The pupils listened to radio calls, fire signals, and looked at the jail, which was vacant.

In the council chambers some of the students were allowed to take over the position of the real officials.

Junior Township Managers included Arnold Anderson, Fred Kneiser, Barbara McClelland, and Giles Russell.

Mayors: Arthur White, Anthony Miele, John Shuttleton, and Anton Krupp.

Councilmen: Class 7-2, Franklin Klahre, David Taylor, Ronald Wallis and Jerry Brennon.

Councilmen: Class 7-7, Neil Gayngs, Bruce Leonard, Robert Feinberg and Hiram Kilborn.

Councilmen: Class 7-9, Bobby Friedl, Gerald Michaels, Emmanuel Conas, Mary Frutinsky, Melvin Thompson, Leonard Caliquire and Robert Ramsey.

Soccer Intramurals Started for Juniors

On Monday, November fifth, the seventh grade intra-mural soccer tournament began. From two to four games are being played per afternoon. After this tournament is well underway, the eighth grades will begin and then the ninth grades.

The first round of the seventh grade tournament will be played by the following teams: 7-1 vs. 7-2, 7-3 vs. 7-4, 7-5 vs. 7-6, 7-7 vs. 7-8, 7-9 vs. 7-10, and 7-11 vs. 7-12. This program will be sponsored by Mr. Julius Capowski and be played according to a process of elimination.

Band Members Likes Revealed

Some students will be surprised to know that this school has some very talented students in its midst.

Outstanding is Anthony Matarsse who has played twice in Carnegie Hall. Once on April 20 and on October 6, 1945, he gave an extraordinary recital. He has been in concerts at Paterson and played in soldier camps. He also spent an interesting evening entertaining at Halloran Hospital.

Anthony dances and plays a drum in the band. Of these three accomplishments, he has no favorites and hopes to make a career of each.

He took up the drum when he entered junior high, but he has been tap dancing since four. He has played the accordion for two years under Mr. Sorocoto.

Anthony has many tapping routines with his elbow though, his favorite is a soft-shoe aerobic dance.

He has no hobbies other than playing instruments and sports, of which basketball is his favorite.

Michael Robinsky, a seventh grader is another promising musician. Miss Marie McClelland who heard him play the piano at the P. T. A. annual concert last year, says that he has excellent finger technique. At that recital he played "The Harmonious Blacksmith" by Handel.

Michael has been studying the piano for six years, his teacher is Mrs. Winters. He doesn't have any favorite pieces.

Among Michael's other achievements is playing the trumpet. He is in the Intermediate Band and marches at the football games.

Mrs. Hawk Welcomes Long Awaited Spouse

Four-thirty A. M. on Columbus Day was an eventful moment to Mrs. Josephine Hawk, for her husband arrived home after three years overseas.

Mr. William Hawk has been in Africa and Rome and Florence, Italy. He is one of the fortunate few who can still wear his civilian clothes but will find when he inspects his complete wardrobe that his wife has made over several of his suits for herself.

Mrs. Hawk had been expecting him but was surprised when he arrived. The trip over was an event, but one because the ship ran into a hurricane and the men had to be strapped into their bunks at night.

Sleeping and eating five meals are Mr. Hawk's main desires but he gave Mrs. Hawk strict orders not to serve spam or canned peaches.

New Teaneck High Students Hail from Neighboring Towns and Distant States

In the fall, along with the autumn leaves, cold weather and new teachers come the new students to Teaneck High. Many hail from distant states such as Texas, Virginia, and Illinois, while others are from neighboring towns.

Georgia Allen, a member of 8-10 finds Teaneck High School very enjoyable because of the memories it brings back about her Alma Mater in San Antonio, Texas.

Rita Wachman of the 9th grade favors "the boys" in Teaneck High School and thinks them better looking than in Wood-Ridge.

Dick Robin is another Texan. He hails from Fort Arthur, where he attended the Woodrow Wilson Junior High School. In his Texas drawl he remarks that he enjoys being with Teaneckites, but could do with less homework.

Ann Dittner comes from a neighboring town, Hackensack. She is impressed by the amount of trust and responsibilities given to students. Latin and citizenship are new to Ann this year.

Mary Antonuccio calls Teaneck her home town. She has attended St. Anastasia for the past three years. A new subject for Mary is sewing which she likes more than any other.

Rufus Choate from Virginia, Bruce and Carlos Stewart, of Pennsylvania and James Taylor, of Illinois, are other newcomers.
