Skid Awarded Wound Medal In Air Battle

Now comes word from General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia that First Lieutenant Arnold (Skid) Johnson, daring fighter pilot of the Army Air Forces, has been awarded the Order of the Purple Heart for being wounded in action, and stands to get the Distinguished Service Cross besides.

Today his father, Teaneck Fireman Nels Johnson of 572 Kenwood Place, Teaneck, said that reports coming from Australia and New Guinea are being received by Mrs. Johnson with a little concern.

"The crazy flying of our boy," said Johnson, "is just driving Mrs. Johnson crazy. We hear that once he came back to his base his plane riddled with 35 machine gun bullets and that he piled out of his plane none the worse for it."

Johnson's award of the Purple Heart is believed to be the first in this war to any man from Bergen County. It is believed he was cited for wounds received in the Coral Sea engagement.

Week-end reports brought Johnson's total of Zeros downed to ten. They credited him with at least two and perhaps three planes last week.

Two weeks ago today Johnson found himself with three Jap planes on the tail of his Flying Fortress, and then from cloud banks as ambush points darted out twice to knock out two of the planes near Rabaul in New Guinea.

He joined the Army Air Forces 2 1/2 years ago to learn to fly.
