ON DUTY

Lieutenant John Grahamer (left) of Teaneck loves laundry chores no more than any other, so he designed the combination hot-water system, washer, wringer, etc., for use at his post in the Southwest Pacific. He put the task by using his powers of persuation on the Navy.

Teaneck Officer In Pacific Rigs Up Machine, Powered By Old Jeep Motor, From Odds And Ends

Modern inventions make light work, figured First Lieutenant John Grahamer Jr., 27, of Teaneck, stationed somewhere in the South West Pacific, so he designed "a washing machine, wringer, hot water system and all" for doing his and his buddies' clothes.

The washer, which is designed after one in his family's basement, is made of a large new tank that Grahamer persuaded the Navy to give him, an empty cable spool which revolves inside and other bits of salvage which revolves inside and other bits of salvage.

The washing-machine, run by 3 men does clothes for about 20 men a day. "Believe me," Grahamer wrote, "some of their clothes are really dirty, especially the truck drivers and mechanics. But we have a couple of boxes of soap powder and with this G.I. soap we really whip up the suds."

The South Pacific laundryman, a former chemist with the Teaneck Chemical Works, mixed up a chlorine bleach solution to set, rid of the tattle-tale gray that was so strong some of the men's clothes fell apart, "some of them black as His young 17-year-old brother, Richard, will enter the service this year. The letters he sends home tells of the Japanese broadcasts made to the American troops. In which Grahamer says, the announcer tells his lies in the most perfect English. He wishes he could tell his family the way the soldiers are exterminating the little yellow parasites.

The only mention of actual combat he made in his letters was of one battle, when the sky over his territory was filled with Jap planes. He wrote home, "Remember how it looks when a sky rocket goes up in the air and bursts? Well that's how the Japs looked," Grahamer, who is in air operations, has been in the service 3 years. He is a graduate of the Edwardsville Arsenal of Maryland.

Mrs. Mary Dutty (above), 27, of 1st Opery Avenue, Teaneck, ended her first leave and reported yesterday at the Newport, R. I., Naval Station Hospital as pharmacist's mate third class. She began training as a recruit January 27 at Middletown College in the Bronze, N. Y. She entered her final year of training at the Hospital Corps School at St. Albans, N. Y. Her husband, Robert Dutty, works on a radio installation at the North Bergen Branch of the Radio Corporation. Her father, Joseph Valentine, lives in Carlstadt, officer in a Westfield High School graduate.

How PT Boats Stopped Japs
In Solomons Told By Skipper
West Englewood Officer, Home With Citation, Speaks Speedy Craft Halted Reinforcement Attempts

"The Japs are tough, competent and greatly underrated," 27-year-old Lieutenant John Kearney, 11-9-47, who spent almost a year as a PT boat skipper in the Solomons and New Georgia Islands, said yesterday at his home in West Englewood.

Kearney said that the one is a well equipped and well trained fighter and will not be defeated as easily as some people would like to believe.

AMONG FIRST

A Presidential citation was his reward for being a member of the first squadron to land on Guadalcanal which attempted to block off ship formations trying to land Jap reinforcements.

Kearney command of the PT boats in this famous battle of the Pacific way, the Japs ships used to land with regularity troops and supplies on Guadalcanal. But with the arrival of these swift, maneuverable craft, the Japanese ships were driven deep into the sea. The Yanks, with some of from 18 to 20 men, a death ship, playing hide and seek with enemy, doggedly attacked until the Yanks were as close as possible to the Jap vessels and then let go with torpedoes.

Kearney said only once fast to move together in a Japanese coast light, which caused a barrage of fire. As mentioned in a story, it was not, fast.

I did Lieutenant Hugh Robertson have the PT boats' brave blown off with a shell shell, but the boat was going as much as forty miles (a speed that no other man executioner was up until the rest of the boat and crew get back to the base, he said.

"The only thing we did at that time, he is the New Jersey plant project was we sailed in the shark oil on the oil tank.

The young skipper said there was no sensation on the intercom when that provided by the airman. The only fact we had an old projector on the deck showed us an old thrid grade movie.

On the way out to the islands he did not find it very different except that the New York City climate. The public attitude, he said, is good but not very optimistic.

The one American feature which did not go very well was with this oil tank are the shelters. They are in the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph, brother of Mrs. P. Hickey of Bricktown School. The bridge, he said, is a monument of the American flag on the island.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph, sister of Miss M. Hickey and Mrs. P. Hickey of Bricktown School of the Recruit, R. I. Out.

Arthur Pierce of Teaneck has been promoted to Third Class Petty Officer.

He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1943 and from West Point in 1944.

Kearney was graduated from the University of Arizona in 1943.

Jack W. Roussel

TEANECK FLIGHT REPORTED LOST

Mother Gets Word After Christmas Shopping

For Mrs. Joseph W. Roussel of Teaneck, the day was to be bright with joy and sorrow. The day ended with sorrow.

In the morning hours she received a letter from her son, Flight Officer Jack W. Roussel, a 19-year-old radio operator in the Royal Canadian Air Force, who had been missing for three days.

Roussel knew about it Thursday. That night he told her that he thought he might be able to find his way back home. "I'll be home by Christmas," he said, "before the end of this year." But on Friday morning, before he could leave, he was reported missing.

"What do you mean, missing?" Mrs. Roussel asked. "He said he'd be home by Christmas."

"He was reported missing," the letter said. "He was last seen on the night of December 13, near the town of Quesnel in British Columbia."

Mrs. Roussel was heartbroken when she read the letter. "What can we do?" she asked. "What can we do?"

"We can only wait," Mrs. Roussel replied. "We can only wait."

Armistice Day In Sardinia This Year Turned Out To Be A Day Of Reunions

Armistice Day in Sardinia this year turned out to be a day of reunions for Corporal Arthur J. Rogers of Englewood, and his brother Corporal R. Rogers too, for the first time since they entered the service nearly two years ago. Arthur wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rogers, 54 Interlachen Road, that while on night duty trucks loaded with supplies were sent to the post where he was stationed. His younger brother stepped out of one of the trucks.

"Gordon didn't know me because of the hat I was wearing, but within ten minutes all of Sardinia must have known it," Arthur said. They are graduates of the Teaneck High School. Mrs. Rogers has entered her boys in the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Teaneck.

MAJOR JOHNSON — BOMBER ACE

Skid Johnson's Silver Star Was Toughest, Hero Recalls

Faced 6 Jap Zeros Over Rabaul, But Earned Medal
In Single Hour Of Combat

By LES BODGERICK

No more through or vastly a warning is being handed out over Rabaul by the Air Force these days than a year ago when the celebrated 395th Bombardment Group returned to the Pacific, including air and naval base in New Britain against land and often discouraging odds. It appeared that the group was being dissuaded from their

DESTROYED SUBMARINE

Major Arnold R. (Skid) Johnson of the 395th Bombardment Group was the man who has destroyed 13 Jap planes, sunk a transport, and landed two and maybe three Jap troop transports. He has been piloting a Flying Fortress in the Southwest Pacific. He had his toughest scrap over Rabaul, where he accounted for two Zeros in a tough fight against three Jap planes. Before the attack, he was in a bomber group under the command of the 4th Division, and a cruiser, and afterward, probably three transports.

The boy Teaneck knew as Skid is now Major Arnold R. Johnson. He was graduated here at the New Britain Bases, and was on his way to the mainland. He was assigned to the 395th Bombardment Group at Teaneck. He had his toughest scrap over Rabaul, but when his record was reviewed, it showed his Fort's greatest victory of large aircraft. He said he was pleased with the intelligence work his group did, and when the Japanese surrendered, he was the first to feel the news.

The 28-year-old Johnson was a pilot in this group when it flew a 12-hour mission against Rabaul, January 2. He had been in the Group since March 1, 1943, the day he was commissioned in the Army Air Force. He received his first Silver Star for his action in the group. He was awarded the Silver Star at the time the papers called him a 10-plane zero hero but when his record was reviewed, it showed his Fort's greatest victory of large aircraft.

The 395th Bombardment Group was formed in late 1942. It was composed of the 8th, 9th, and 10th Bombardment Squadrons. The group was assigned to the Southwest Pacific, and its mission was to destroy Japanese transport ships and troop transports. It was also assigned to destroy Japanese airfields.

The group was led by Major Arnold R. Johnson, who had been a pilot in the 395th Bombardment Group. He had been assigned to the group in 1943, and had been promoted to the rank of major. He had been in the group since its formation in late 1942.

Ann Wisnovsky Is Married
To Ensign Kenneth K. Koenig

Announcement Is Made Of Their Wedding
At The Columbia Chapel

Miss Ann Virginia Wisnovsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Wisnovsky of Jersey City, and Ensign Kenneth K. Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Koenig of 871 Garden Street, West Englewood, were married last Wednesday at Columbia Chapel, New York City, after Ensign Koenig was commissioned at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The Rev. Harry C. Eshleman of First Baptist Church, Hackensack, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Wisnovsky, the bride's sister, and Miss Phyllis Koenig, sister of the bridegroom. Jack Winans of Catskill, N. Y., was best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ivory satin gown. Her attendants wore dusty rose and slate blue satin.

The wedding was followed by a family reception at the Hotel Winchmere in New York City.

The bride, a member of the New Jersey Bar, was graduated summa cum laude in 1940 with a degree of LL.B. from John Marshall College.

Ensign Koenig, a graduate of Teaneck High School, received his LL.B. from John Marshall College with the Class of 1941. He enlisted shortly after the Pearl Harbor attack and entered Midshipmen's School at Columbia University last August. He is on orders at Miami, Fla.

The couple left Friday for Miami, Fla., where Ensign Koenig will be stationed temporarily.

B-25 MITCHELL BOMBER NAMED ‘SPIRIT OF TEANECK’

Bomber Named For Teaneck

Same Type That Hit Tokyo

Army Announces Christening Of B-25 For Sale Of

8195,000 War Bonds In Township Drive Last Winter

A B-25 Mitchell medium bomber—like the ones which struck Tokyo, shattered Rommel, and is dreaded by the enemy on all fronts—has been named "Spirit of Teaneck, N. J.,” it was disclosed in official announcement by the War Department today. It did not reveal where the bomber was named.

BOOKSTASTER LED EFFORT

Bombed through the sale of 8195,000 War Bonds in Teaneck residents

last winter, this bomber is like the first Allied airplanes to see service in all combat areas throughout the world. A B-25 was the first U. S.

Army bomber to take off from the Teaneck Armory, Nov. 23, 1942, and they are the 18 medium bombers which accompanied B-17’s on a 4090-mile march against Nazis from America to the Philippines Islands and then from Australia to the Philippine Islands. They have been sold while Lieutenant General

Jonathan Wainwright’s forces were still holding out.

Anthony Pepe, who last winter

chairman of the Teaneck War

Bonding Committee, received the official notice of the naming of the bomber. Dr. Barnes C. Bookstaver,

Teaneck Health Officer, was chair man of the special Buy-a-Bomber

campaign committee, and Trustee

Albert C. Mau, member of the Board of Education, was cochairman.

The drive was launched Dec. 19, 1942, at a dinner in honor of Lieu tenant Arnold (Skid) Johnson of Teaneck, at the Swiss Chalet.

As announcement of the results of a former War Bond drive is made,

plans for the Third War Loan Drive

in Teaneck are being made with

Bayles as chairman of the Town

ship’s War Finance Committee.

A Bond to every wage earner is the goal of the Teaneck commit tee this time, and every home will be canvassed. Volunteers to serve in homes to homes. Bond actions will be canvassed. Volunteers to serve at official headquarters for the drive.
