Mooney To Return To Police After Fighting Nippons

3rd Air Flotilla, code name B. McDowell Avenue of this city for his participation in the Battle of Berlin. In the early hours of the morning, in the presence of the 3rd Air Flotilla's chief of staff, General, a famous bomber, in which he served, was destroyed by Japanese fire at noon.

"I feel a little lighter," he said, "after that was over so I crawled into some nearby bushes and went to sleep. I forgot to turn in my weapons and the others received citations."

Although originally starting out with the Navy, he was transferred to the 19th Marine, Second Division at Cape Henry, Va., June 1, 1943, just before leaving for overseas. Colonel of the Fleet, congratulating, Mooney said his division was honored by Japanese for six solid weeks during the battle of Tarawa.

He received an injury while doing a day shift, but he could hobble around, so he kept right on working. He had to give in, though, after a bad attack of dysentery off of him in 2 weeks. He has been hospitalized since January, but has been classified as fit for duty and was recently given an honorable medical discharge.

Mooney entered on September 29, 1942 and took boot training at Great Lakes, Ill., U. S. Naval Training Center, where he spent about 3 months, making a complete course of instruction in seamanship, military drill, and physical fitness. He was then transferred to the Marine Corps for 20 years before going into active service with the Army. He joined the National Guard in 1927 and received his commission in the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth and Camp Crowder for three years prior to going overseas.

Colonel Mooney was employed as a drill officer by the New York Telephone Company for 14 years and ended his active military service with the First Signal Corps. He is married to the former Catherine C. G. They have two children, John, 10, and Elizabeth, 8.

Charles W. Lind Is Now Lieut.-Colonel

Charles W. Lind is now Lieut.-Colonel

3rd Air Flotilla, code name B. McDowell Avenue of this city for his participation in the Battle of Berlin. In the early hours of the morning, in the presence of the 3rd Air Flotilla's chief of staff, General, a famous bomber, in which he served, was destroyed by Japanese fire at noon.

"I feel a little lighter," he said, "after that was over so I crawled into some nearby bushes and went to sleep. I forgot to turn in my weapons and the others received citations."

Although originally starting out with the Navy, he was transferred to the 19th Marine, Second Division at Cape Henry, Va., June 1, 1943, just before leaving for overseas. Colonel of the Fleet, congratulating, Mooney said his division was honored by Japanese for six solid weeks during the battle of Tarawa.

He received an injury while doing a day shift, but he could hobble around, so he kept right on working. He had to give in, though, after a bad attack of dysentery off of him in 2 weeks. He has been hospitalized since January, but has been classified as fit for duty and was recently given an honorable medical discharge.

Mooney entered on September 29, 1942 and took boot training at Great Lakes, Ill., U. S. Naval Training Center, where he spent about 3 months, making a complete course of instruction in seamanship, military drill, and physical fitness. He was then transferred to the Marine Corps for 20 years before going into active service with the Army. He joined the National Guard in 1927 and received his commission in the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth and Camp Crowder for three years prior to going overseas.

Colonel Mooney was employed as a drill officer by the New York Telephone Company for 14 years and ended his active military service with the First Signal Corps. He is married to the former Catherine C. G. They have two children, John, 10, and Elizabeth, 8.

Now Naval Lt. Fitzpatrick

Lieutenant Joseph A. Fitzpatrick, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Fitzpatrick of 100 Sherman Avenue, Teaneck, recently was promoted from Lieutenant (Junior Grade) to Lieutenant. After 2 months of duty at Naval Headquarters Base at Newport, R. I., Lieutenant Fitzpatrick, in being transferred to duty in the Pacific area, according to his sister, Mrs. M. Emery of 360 Sherman Avenue, Teaneck.

Lieutenant Fitzpatrick has two brothers in the service, Vincent, who is attached to the military police corps with General, and Robert, on duty with the Marines in Alaska, as well as a brother-in-law, Eugene Emery of the Merchant Marine, recently returned from New Guinea and now on duty in California.
Missig Over France

Second Lieutenant Henry G. Ayton, son of Mrs. Henry Ayton of 225 Connecticut Road, West Englewood, is reported missing over France.

Lieutenant Ayton, pilot of a P-40 Thunderbolt fighter plane, and who had 16 missions to his credit, was last known to be over France and he is now listed as missing. This was the mission from which he did not return.

A graduate of the Teaneck High School, Lieutenant Ayton attended Bergen College and enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in Autumn of 1941. He transferred to the American Air Force in January of 1943 and went overseas three months prior to the day on which he was reported missing.

Navy Cadet Tidwell

Naval Aviation Cadet Cecil Tidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tidwell of West Englewood, has been transferred to the Naval Air Training Center at Pensacola, Fl., after successful completion of the preliminary flight training course at the Naval Aviation Schools, Glenville, Ill.

After passing the advanced flight training course at Pensacola, Cadet Tidwell will be commissioned as an aviation cadet in the Naval Reserve as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. Cadet Tidwell is a graduate of Dwight Morrow High School in Englewood.

McCrae In Marine Corps

John Alexander McCrae, son of Mrs. J. McCrae of 497 Mill Creek Street, Teaneck, N. J., has been appointed a cadet-midshipman for flight training in the United States Merchant Marine Cadet Corps. He has been assigned to the United States Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N. Y., for a four months basic training, after which he will serve for a minimum of 8 months as a Deck Cadet-Midshipman aboard the merchant ships delivering vital war supplies to the far-flung battlefields. When he completed his sea time he will return to the Academy for 12 months advanced training. Upon graduation he will be qualified to serve as a third officer in the Merchant Marine or go on active duty as a ensign in the Naval Reserve.

McCrae is a graduate of Northern High School in West Orange, N. J., and will enter the military academy the following week.

Air Patrol Cadets Recruit Members

Civil Air Patrol Cadets, 294-1 of Bergen County, with local headquarters at School 2, Teaneck, will open their 12th in a series of recruiting drives this week. Flight Cadet Captain Ferriol announced at a regular meeting at the school last night.

In outlining the program of the Cadets for the summer, Ferriol said that the recruiting will be carried on at: Cadet headquarters, 153 Engle Street, Englewood, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday nights, and also Saturday afternoon.

All interested are welcome to attend a meeting any Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at School 2, said Ferriol.

A new series of courses will be open as soon as there are enough new members to warrant them. These will include military discipline and courtesy, organization of the Airy, A. F. F., and Navy radio identification from the air.

Advanced cadets now in program are meteorology and radio courses. Military drill: conducted. Physical and Letter field exercises have been planned twice a week. These exercises give us an opportunity to work around aircraft to accept opportunities to fly, and to learn the care of a salesman in the field.

Ferriol said that several social events have also been planned, among them an all-Cadet show presented after the A. A. F. show, "Winged Victory," and a series of dinner competitions, at which this squadron will challenge other squadrons throughout the State.
